

Pass on the gift of life

ODTAC is dedicated to saving lives in Canada by increasing the number of organ donors and providing financial assistance for medical research.

Right now more than 4000 Canadians are waiting for organ transplants but not enough organs are available.

This waiting list is growing. Over the next two decades, it is predicted that the need for organs will increase 150%.

Canada has one of the lowest donor rates in the industrialized world.

Support Medical Research

Canada is a world leader in transplant research. Your generous donation will help finance the constant quest for new methods and medicines to improve the health of Canadians.

A revolutionary breakthrough has been made in the field of organ regeneration. Ten Canadians received cornea transplants using tissue from their own bodies. These ten people did not have to wait for a suitable organ match nor did they face the threat of rejection.

Successful regeneration of life saving organs could mean that fewer Canadians will have to wait for transplants in the future.

A door has been opened. Your financial support for medical research holds the key.

Your donation will multiply instantly!

Each dollar you give to this exciting project will be matched by a funding partner.
